who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges exists in all states.

The basis for selection was based on leadership and participation in extra curricular and academic activities such as chairman or co-chairman of Homecoming, Dad's Day or Mother's Day, and other active organizations.

Excellence and sincerity in scholarship, citizenship and service to the school, promise of future usefulness to business and society were also used as a basis for selecting the students. They needed a 2.5 grade average.

CWC Portrays Hungary At MUN

By PAT CRAWFORD

During the next four months a group of "student statesmen" at Central will be learning to think like Hungarian Communists as they prepare to represent Hungary at the Model United Nations at Stanford University.

Announcement of the selection of Central to represent Hungary was made by Dr. Elwyn Odell at a meeting last week of prospective delegates to the Model UN which will be held on the Stanford campus at Palo Alto, California, April 10, 11, and 12.

In a letter from the Executive-General of the Model UN at Stanford the work of past Central delegations was praised, and confidence in the ability of the CWCE group to handle the representation of such a strategic country as Hungary was expressed.

The first meeting, held last Friday in C-109, was attended by over thirty students. The agenda for the meeting included discussion of plans for the study program for the next four months, methods of choosing delegates and clarification of qualifications and duties of delegates.

An important point was raised in the meeting by George Worthington, who was chairman of the Ethiopian delegation at last year's Model UN. Worthington stressed the fact that the mission of the Hungarian delegation from CWCE would be to represent the Soviet-dominated government of Hungary, rather than to represent the oppressed Hungarian people.

Don Robertson, Central delegate to the Model UN held at Oregon State College last year, had this to say about CWCE's selection to represent Hungary: "The assignment of Hungary to Central offers many possibilities. One of these possibilities is that we may send two delegations to the Model UN, one representing free and independent Hungary, and one representing Kremlin-dominated Hungary. This would afford the two Central delegations the opportunity to have a floor battle during the first plenary session to decide (Continued on Page Two)

Crier Wins Third Place; Pat Morris ESPA Officer

Pat Morris of Central was elected secretary-treasurer of the Evergreen Press Association at its third annual clinic held on the campus of CPS last weekend. Miss Morris, a freshman, is a reporter on the Campus Crier and also a member of the Hyakem staff.

In the judging of college papers the Crier placed third in a field of 11. Whitworth was first followed by UBC.

Library Requests Books

All college library books are due Wednesday, Dec. 12, according to Miss Margaret Mount, librarian. After this date books may be checked out on a day-to-day basis until Dec. 14.

Library fines for fall quarter must be paid by Friday, Dec. 14. The names of students with unpaid fines will be placed on the delinquent list and sent to the business office.

'Door Step' Clue To Winter Play

"The Great Big Door Step," a three act comedy has been announced by Milo Smith, instructor of speech and drama, as the next all-college dramatic production. The dates have been tentatively set for March 7 and 8, 1957.

"The Great Big Door Step" was first produced on Broadway in 1942 and starred Dorothy Gish and Louis Calhern. The play was written by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett adapted from the novel by E. P. O'Donnell.

It is a story of a Cajun family, descendants of Longfellow's Evangeline, considered "poor white trash" who have located in the bayou country. The Chrochets find a magnificent door step floating down the Mississippi river. They place it in front of their shanty and in humor and pathos try to live up to it.

Choir Presents Messiah Sunday

THE CENTRAL SINGERS have been practicing intensively during the past few weeks for their performance of Handel's Messiah which will be given in the college auditorium at 8:15 Sunday evening December 9. Director Wayne Hertz is shown here conducting a rehearsal in the music building.

"The Messiah" by Handel will be presented Sunday at 8:15 p.m. in the College Auditorium. The 120 voice "Central Singers" will sing the choruses accompanied by the College orchestra, piano and organ.

Soloists for "The Messiah" include sopranos Twylla Gibb, Ellensburg; Maria Lember, Vancouver; Beverly Morris, Sedro Woolley; and Phyllis Reynolds, Bremerton. Alto soloists are Coralie Derrick, Ellensburg, and Lois Koski, Vancouver. Tenors include Wayne Calkins, Seattle, and Harold Rogers, Grandview. Baritones are Ed Sand, Clarkston and Ron Fraiser, Vancouver.

Wayne S. Hertz will direct the oratorio. Herbert A. Bird will direct the orchestra, and at the organ will be Herbert Whitem, organ instructor at Central. Piano accompanists will be Mollie Fullerton, Winston, Ore.; Mary Luce, Klamath Falls, Ore.; Delores Mueller, Port Townsend; Eelanor Peter, Ellensburg and Janice Schwartz, Kennewick.

OFFICERS PROMOTED

Promotion of three cadet officers was announced this week by AFROTC Wing Informational Services Office. Cadet 2nd Lieutenants promoted to 1st Lt. were John Wilson, Bill Hooper, and Dean Bunce.

Santa, Be Hanged!

Since this is the time of Christmas decorations what would be your opinion to the following suggestion?

Window shades draped in black and the solitary figure of Santa Claus swaying from a hangman's rope. Printed on this emblem of greed and disappointment would be the word — THINK.

Horrible you say? Why? Doesn't it have the Christmas colors of red and green? Is it the idea of a "Scrooge" or a cynic who does not have the true feeling of Christmas?

What is this true feeling? The disappointment of many small children on Christmas morning when they find their wishes for toys and candy seen in the surplus of Christmas catalogues have not been filled. Is it the spirit of the store owners who benefit from the present commercialization that takes place around December 25? Or is it that full, contented spirit that occurs after finishing a big "Christmas" turkey which is the result of weeks of squeezing of the family budget?

The commercializing of Christmas has resulted in Christmas savings plans at banks which enables people to have the necessary money to purchase elaborate gifts and not have to charge them. It has also brought about the "nice" abbreviated form of "Xmas" for people in a hurry with their Christmas shopping who can not take time to write the six conventional letters which are about the only reminders left as to what the date of December 25 stands.

Why has Christ been replaced with an "X" at the time of the year honoring his birth? This question has been buried by the wanton desires of mankind for tangible and more materialistic things. The spiritual feeling no longer holds its proper place in our Yuletide celebrations.

We are becoming content with nuts, candy, trees, school vacations, a turkey, and the spirit of receiving gifts. We no longer think of the virtue of giving from which our basic Christmas rites have been developed.

To turn our thinking from these materialistic ideals to the real meaning of Christmas may not be entirely possible. It is not necessary to abandon all of the present Christmas frivolities but just do as the proposed word on our suspended emblem of disappointment called Santa Claus—THINK.

We were asked tonight at a house meeting to donate as much as we felt we could afford to the help for Hungary fund, and we were also asked to donate our time, a paltry hour, which I am sure none of us would miss in the outset of things. I wish to state right now, before any individual decides that I am a hedonistic lout, that I intend to contribute to both of these, in my mind, very worthy causes. It is not the ends to which I object, it is the means.

Charity, as it is defined by the New Century Dictionary, 1952, is: "Christian love . . . benevolent feeling toward those in need . . . something given to a person or persons in need . . ." Charity should come from within, and, in my opinion, not forced from without. The insolent solemnity with which the above requests were presented were found rather distasteful to myself. I object to the inference that my only objective in life is organizing 'panty raids,' presenting myself as an object of annoyance to the local law enforcement officers; etc. Campaigns presented in the manner of this one are, in my mind, manifestations of childish impulses to gain the limelight as a "do-gooder." They are not charity in the true sense of the word. I consider them an insidious attempt to coerce money from the public by emotional appeal. Charity is the God-given right of every man, and should not be realized by that popular device known as the bandwagon. We should give thanks that we have the opportunity to express the thanks involved in the right. The purist attitude is indeed a wonderful motivation.

Sincerely,
ROGER CALHOUN

A special committee of ICC members is investigating the feasibility of a combined Parents' Day instead of Mothers' and Fathers' Days.

We want it understood that we are not for or against such a move, as yet. We would like it if the students would talk to their parents over Christmas vacation and inform them that we intend to send out a survey to get their opinions.

As of this date, we have found possibilities of continuing activities now provided with few minor changes on the one day. We also have found that the present organization and sponsoring could continue with very few changes. However, there are one or two "blockades" that appear to be hard to overcome.

Dear Editor,

UCCF wishes to express their gratitude to the students of Central for their help and cooperation in the drive for aid to the Hungarian students and refugees. Nearly $200 was donated at the Thanksgiving meal and almost 100 students participated in the Tuesday evening campus of the city. Within an hour and a half $440 was turned in to Shirley Willoughby, UCCF president. By the time the proceeds from the candy sale and the dorm donations are in, the money will probably exceed $700.

The students rang a lot of doorbells, talked to a lot of people—and the people listened—and as a result of the cooperation between the town people and the students, the drive was a success. The students of Central should be proud of this accomplishment, and the UCCF expresses their sincere "thanks" to each student who participated in and donated to help make this drive a success.

Sincerely,
Don Robertson
Cheri Winney
Shirley Willoughby

Editor note: Congratulations to UCCF and their drive for Hungary. And good work Central students.

I would like to express thanks to all persons who helped Central host an Evergreen Conference Students Association President's Conference Oct. 17.

Special thanks to Miss Gaynell Johnson and staff for a nice luncheon; Mrs. Young, for refreshments; Sigma Tau Alpha, for registration; Dorothy Heintz, Bev Nichols and Mary Luce for entertainment and Dave Patrick, chairman.

Dear Editor:

We would like to express our appreciation and sincere thanks for the wonderful assistance we received for the Sammy Kaye Concert and Dance.

We are sure that neither would have been possible without the generous help of individuals and clubs. We feel also that Miss Gaynell Johnson deserves public recognition for her co-operation, and Miss

Crier Staff Has Opening

A vacancy on the editorial sports staff of the Campus Crier starting winter quarter may be filled early in that quarter with the selection of a student to serve as new assistant sports editor, according to Robert Slingland, Director of Publications.

Written letters of application may be submitted to Slingland not later than December 12. Letters should include a background of any previous training the student might have had in writing and reasons for desiring the job. Students from freshman to senior standing are eligible to apply.

The job pays $2.50 per issue and includes writing sports under the sports editor's direction each week, correcting copy and assisting in the delivery of copy to the printer.

In urging students to apply for the job, Slingland stressed, applicants need not be presently on the staff of the Campus Crier.

Letters should be addressed to: "Director of Publications, Box 14, Central Washington College of Education." They may be delivered in person to the Publications office in the Music building.

which delegation should be seated. If the free Hungarian delegation is seated, then Hungary will no longer be under the dominance of the Soviet Union and may either conduct their nation as a neutral country, or a Western ally, which would definitely affect the policy and strategy of the Communist bloc.

The next meeting of those interested in attending Model UN will be held Saturday, January 5. Items to be discussed at that meeting include plans for a study of the structure of the UN and a review of world events of the past year which will affect the agenda of the Model UN.

According to Dr. Odell applications are still being accepted from students interested in attending the Model UN. Applications should be given to Dr. Odell, Don Robertson, or Dolores Mueller.

Leth Reports

State's Fog Causes Lay-Overs For Cleveland Bound Editor

By BILL LETH

(Editors note. This story is a report of the trip Bill Leth took to Cleveland on behalf of the Campus Crier. He will be taking over the position of editor with the next issue Winter quarter.)

"Flight delayed by fog," became dirty words to me by the time I returned to good old Central Washington College, after attending the Thirty-Second Annual Associated Collegiate Press Conference in Cleveland the first week in November.

I flew from Yakima to Cleveland and back again, and my flights were delayed a total of 25½ hours by fog. I wouldn't be complaining, but all of my layovers, due to the foul weather, were here in the state of Washington. I am not a member of any of the local Chambers of Commerce so I can legally complain about the disagreeable weather.

The three-day conference was held November 8-10 at the Hotel Statler. Attendance at the ACP Conference set a new record, with 817 delegates representing Hawaii, the District of Columbia, Canada and 37 states.

The conference opened with registration at 8 a.m. Thursday morning and continued through the conference dance Saturday night. I spent Thursday, Friday and Saturday looking at newspaper and yearbook displays, attending seminars dealing with the problems of editors, talking to other delegates and sightseeing in Cleveland.

Some of the interesting meetings that I attended were "Picture Thinking," "The Editorial Page," "Your Future with the Newspaper" and seminars on makeup and typography, both for the front and inside pages.

One of the most important things that I got out of the conference was meeting editors from all over the United States and discussing common problems with them. Some of the college newspapers really have some big problems.

We are fortunate to have competent editorial and business staffs and no faculty censorship here at Central. Some of the advisors read every line of copy before the copy is sent to the print shop.

One of my most pleasant moments of the whole trip came during the halftime entertainment at the pro football game between the Cleveland Browns and the Baltimore Colts. The Washington high school band came onto the field playing the "Sweezy Fight Song." I felt like cheering but I would have looked funny, standing up cheering all by myself in a crowd of 42,404 fans.

Since I was the only delegate from the entire Northwest, I was in Cleveland for almost five hours before I met anyone. The first delegates I met were some students from the University of Detroit and Michigan Tec.

We made the rounds of the after dinner social gatherings in the Statler together, meeting scores of other delegates. We all became firm believers of "Southern Hospitality," and even picked up southern accents. The delegates from the southeastern part of the United States sure must have had large expense accounts!

The reason I was sent to the ACP Conference, was to pick up new ideas for the Campus Crier as I will take over as editor on January 2. I did learn several new things and I hope to incorporate them, starting with the January 11 issue.

Now to the high finances of the trip. The SGA allowed me an expense account of $294.58 to cover my transportation, registration, lodging, meals and miscellaneous expenses. I even managed to bring back $23.68, after paying all of my expenses.

To sum it all up, conferences are not all meetings and seminars. You have the evenings to enjoy some of the finer things of life. Well this is "30" for now.

it is now, helps to develop the spirit of Homecoming. A review or talent show would not have much to do with the theme of Homecoming, which I believe is most important.

Charlotte Blakely, junior, "I think it would be a good idea to change if there were tryouts of which only the best acts would be presented."

Here and There

The British-French decision to withdraw from Egypt immediately is approved by the United States. A statement issued by the State Department said that the troop withdrawal will "strengthen the capacity of the United Nations to tackle other outstanding problems in the middle east."

A giant airlift involving 100 to 200 transport planes is being organized by the U.S. Air Force. They expect to bring 21,000 Hungarian refugees to the U.S. at the rate of 500 to 1,000 a day for the next 30 days. President Eisenhower has ordered a total of 21,500 refugees admitted.

Insured commercial banks have been authorized by the government to raise their interest rates to three percent. This would apply to interest on savings deposits and time deposits.

What Say You?

What say you about replacing Stunt Night with a variety or talent show in which individual groups as well as dorms and organizations could participate. This type of show would probably not require the following of a set theme.

Peggy Sharpe, Danforth Graduate, "I think it is an excellent idea. If you get the best talent doing what they can do best a theme would not be required."

Jim Kemp, freshman, "I think it would be a better idea than what they had this year. A change would lend itself to a wider and better selection of acts. This type of show would be of more interest to the alumni for whom it is supposedly planned."

Dorothy Heintz, sophomore, "I think it would be a good idea to change because I think it would bring out more real talent and it would eliminate the feeling of compulsory participation."

John Lester, junior, "Stunt Night has always been entertaining for me, but I am in favor of a more diversified program."

Lois Williams, sophomore, "I would not approve of the change as I believe that Stunt Night, as

Central Welcomes Five Attend

Band directors from all over the Northwest gathered for a band music clinic at the new Ellensburg high school band room last Saturday December 1, according to band music clinic chairmen A. Bert Christianson and Jack Snodgrass. Hosts for the clinic were the Music Division of CWCE and the Ellensburg high school. The college band, under Christianson, and the high school band, directed by Snodgrass, acted as the reading groups and played music published recently for bands. The music was furnished by the Johnson West Music Service of Seattle. Purpose of the clinic was to acquaint directors with the latest published releases of band music. Each director evaluated all compositions. Christianson stated that it is through meetings of this kind that directors are able to find new materials which they might secure for their own school groups. Sessions for the band clinic started at 10 a.m. with the college concert band reading until noon. After a directors' luncheon at the New York Cafe, the high school band began the afternoon session followed by the college organization at 3 p.m. The first state legislature which met in 1890 passed a law establishing the Washington State Normal School at Ellensburg. It was known by this name until 1937 when it was changed to Central Washington College of Education.

Five Attend FTA Meet

Washington Education Association Representative Assembly had five members of FTA from CWCE in attendance. This meeting was held Friday and Saturday during Thanksgiving vacation in the Olympic Hotel at Seattle. Attending from Central were Jerry Semeru, Marlene Hoff, Larry Bowen, Rolf Williams and Dick Wilson. In addition to the FTA members from CWCE there were 10 FTA members attending from other college chapters in our state. Many resolutions were discussed at this two day meeting. The highlights of some of the resolutions of special interest to students planning on teaching as a career were those pertaining to salary standards, date for future representative assembly meetings and deferment of teachers until conclusion of his school year in case his draft call is received. A resolution suggesting a minimum salary of $4500 and a maximum of $10,000 is a goal being worked upon by the salary committee. It is also hoped that work can be done through legislation that will allow deduction of school expenses from income tax. The speaker at the Friday evening banquet was Miss Martha Shull, president of National Education Association. Cecil Hannan from Longview was elected president of WEA succeeding Winfield Fountain of Moses Lake.

Observers Study Wassail Fun Slated Soon

The Arva TV Company of Seattle presented a demonstration on closed circuit TV. Television cameras were set up in Miss Hamill's sixth grade room and was piped into the observation room. This demonstration showed the various ways in which closed circuit television might be used to enrich the teacher-education program as well as other phases of instruction. Closed circuit television may take the place of some of the observation that now has to be made in the junior and senior high. It is doubtful if it will be able to completely replace observation, but the various lines have been tested to determine how much of the class can be included and how much of the detail can be observed.

Wassail party, a student-faculty party during the Yule season, will be presented Tuesday, December 11, from 3 to 5 in the Student Union Building. The Wassail party is an annual event sponsored by the Central division of the WEA and AAUP. The party will be put on entirely by the faculty and staff for the students. Co-chairmen of the party are Miss Mary Mathewson of the English department and Arthur Ladd of the Science department. Committees are invitations, Eugene Kozy of the Business Education department and Alva Treadwell of the Social Science department; posters, Reino Randall of the Art department; music, Wayne Hertz, Joseph Haruda, and G. Russell Ross of the Music department; pouring, Miss Margaret Scruggs of the Music department; receptionist, Mrs. Marion McMahon of the Home Economics department; serving, Miss Mabel Anderson of the Education department; transportation, Robert Johnson of the Science department; dishwashing and KP, Keith Rinehart of the English department. Kenneth Lundberg of the Social Science department will usher in Santa for the children. Mrs. Olive Schnebly, director of the CUB will be in charge of the decorating. Miss Gaynell Johnson, director of dormitories, will be in command of the punch.

Registration Dates

Registration for Winter quarter will begin Wednesday, January 2. Students will register by appointment. Their cards will be in their boxes by the end of this quarter. He said that Thursday, January 10 will be the last day to pay fees. If fees are not paid by this date, the student can not continue in school. The former 24 hour limit to pay fees was for the convenience of the business office and is not in effect now, Mitchell said.

Speakers for the next three topics have not been announced but the topics are, "The Importance of Being a Gentleman and a Lady," Jan. 29 and "Grooming for Men and Women" Feb. 5 and 12.

The last three topics will be "The Importance of Good English in Casual Conversation," "Social Entertainment in the Home" by Mrs. L. Fitterer and "Make-up" by Mrs. O. E. Ostrander.

"This program is comparable to many introduced in other colleges," Mrs. Olive Schnebly, co-advisor for the group said, "It is designed to enable the student to graduate from college with the assurance that he will feel at ease in any social situation. College graduates are expected to know many of these things just because they are college graduates, although they are not covered in academic courses."

Vesey Appointed As Cheer Leader

Presidents Meet At CWC Campus

The Evergreen Conference Students Association President's meeting held on the CWCE campus Saturday, November 17, was attended by nine college presidents. The conference scheduled the Pacific Students President's Association to be held in May in Phoenix, Arizona. Jack Lybyer President of the Evergreen Association and the president-elect of SGA will attend.

The conference examined the possibility of varsity shows from other campuses being brought to CWCE. Also discussed was the possibility of CWCE's entering the debate tournaments. The group discussed raising funds for Hungary.

The men's Intramural Association plans to have an intercollegiate play off with the men's groups during winter quarter.

The purpose of this conference is to give an evaluation of the overall picture of school aims and goals. They normally meet three times a year. Jack Lybyer is the president of the Evergreen Conference.

SGA Hosted By North Hall

Dormitory standards, SGA scholarships and cards were among the items of business at this week's SGA meeting which was held at North Hall.

The question of women going to men's dorms was referred again to the Dean of Women, Mrs. Annette Hitchcock.

The discussion of whether SGA should sponsor a scholarship was referred to the dorms. Some of the problems discussed about the proposed scholarship included whom it should benefit, and whether it should be one large one or several smaller ones. The possibility of sponsoring a foreign student was also discussed.

The council after much discussion decided to keep the present SGA cards rather than have new ones with individual identification pictures on them or laminated cards.

Joe Wilcoxson, Crier photographer, appeared before the council with a request for some needed equipment for the Crier dark room. The request was referred to the finance committee.

SGA voted to discontinue their sponsorship of the Colonial Ball on the grounds that the council does not have time to work on such a social affair.

Ted Wood was appointed chairman of the blood drive which will be held February 28. He will work with the Student Health committee.

Other business the council discussed was appointment procedures. It was decided that in the case of the song and yell staffs, there would be one alternate per staff elected with the staffs in the spring of each year. In case of a vacancy or absence, they would take over.

Science Club Elects Ted Cook First Prexy

Officers for the newly organized Science Club were elected at their meeting on November 20.

Ted Cook was elected president of the club. Other officers elected included Don Hornbeck, vice-president; Ted Wood, secretary; and Floyd Lehr, treasurer.

Chuckles, Intrigue Derived From Campus Production

By FLORENCE BOWEN

The mystery drama, "Laura" proved to be an interesting dramatic production. On Friday evening, the actors played to a well filled house but on Thursday, the opening night, it was a bit disappointing to play to a much smaller crowd.

A most appreciative audience both nights warmed up to the play after the first act. This play is a difficult production to handle but Norman Howell, director did a splendid job of directing his cast to move over the slow moving sections of the drama and to hold their audience.

Barbara Bradbury gave many persons cause for a chuckle in her portrayal of Laura. She was supposedly murdered and when she appeared on the scene in the second act everybody in the play was quickly involved in the "whodunit." Even Laura was then under suspicion of being the murderer. Roger Asselstine as Waldo Lydecker, a despicable Englishman, who was in love with Laura did a commendable job in evoking laughter from his audience.

Mark McPherson played by James Kelley portrayed the detective who desperately attempted to sift the evidence in the case. He, too, became ensnared in the web of Laura's lovers. Gilbert Edwards, as Shelby Carpenter who was the true fiance of Laura, had a terrific time defending the position of Laura. Many tense scenes among Laura's lovers were well done and along with the supporting cast had the audience most frustrated at times wondering what was coming next. Doing an excellent job of supporting the main characters were Richard Vennetti, Diane O'Brian, Marjorie Finkle and Alan Goodell.

The stage setting was interesting and set the mood for the play. The suspense that developed within the play was not apparent from merely viewing the stage setting. The players were a bit difficult to hear in a few scenes but the action carried on so well that this fault was easily overlooked.

The murderer, none other than Waldo Lydecker, was finally apprehended. A most dramatic ending to the play completed this mystery drama. Norman Howell, his cast and production staff are to be commended on a production well done.

Waymire, Pat Short, Gail Hansen, Connie Lipscomb and Bill Hagemeyer. Rev. Ronald Hummel, minister of students at First Methodist Church was the advisor for the retreat.

NEWMAN CLUB

Newman Club will have its annual Christmas party on Sunday, Dec. 9 in the church clubrooms at 5:30 p.m. Bring a small gift for gift exchange, Bob Feuchter, president requested. There will be a limit of 50 cents and the gifts will be given to St. Vincent De Paul for their use.

Barbara Conrad was elected second vice president of the Northwest Providence, and Donna Cavadini was elected secretary. The election was held over Thanksgiving vacation at the Northwest Providence convention in Ellensburg. The convention was a success and we are especially proud of Barbara and Donna, said Bob Feuchter, local club president.

Dr. Crum Attends Annual Meeting

Dr. Wesley Crum, Central's dean of instruction, attended the annual meeting of the Washington Education Association, Nov. 23 and 24 at the Olympic Hotel in Seattle. The group decided upon several requests to be placed before the state legislature. The association asks for full supplementation of the teacher's retirement system by the addition of Social Security. A budget of $246,500,000 will be requested for the operation of the public school system for the coming year. This includes the grades from kindergarten through the junior colleges.

The group decided to work toward a goal of $6,000 for the teacher's average salary with $4,500 as the minimum. They acknowledge that it will take time to achieve that goal.

A new president was elected and a new headquarters building was dedicated. Cecil Hannon, a principal of a Longview school, was elected as the new president.

All living past presidents attended the banquet dedicating the new building. Dr. Crum is a past president of the group. The new building is located at 910 5th Ave., Seattle, Wash.

ROTC Discussed At Air Confab

Central's president, Dr. Robert McConnell, has been invited to attend a meeting called by the Washington State Research Council to discuss education, taxation and highway appropriations. State legislators and citizens representing the colleges of higher education and public education forces are attending.

Purpose of the meeting is to inform the public of problems before the next legislature.

Dr. McConnell has just returned from a meeting at the Air University at Maxwell Air Force Base in Alabama. He was attending the last days of a conference of professors of Air Science and Deans and Presidents of colleges with Air Force ROTC programs. They met to learn about the present program and about future plans.

Two members of the administrative staff at Central attended the Legislative Budget Committee meeting in Olympia last weekend. Dr. McConnell and Perry Mitchell, registrar, attended the meeting to discuss Central's needs in the college level with other colleges in the state. The group discussed projections of population and state income and enrollments in public schools and colleges. Dr. Calvin Schmid, member of the Washington State Census Board, reported on his population studies in the state during the past two years.

Miss Johnsen, assisted by Miss Bonnie Easton, planned the affair for about 100 employees.

The drama department is in charge of scenery and costumes. Joseph Huruda is the director.

"Bastien et Bastienne" is a comic opera written in 1768 by Mozart who was then 12 years old.

Admission is free and townspeople are invited.

Union Party Features Organ Music, Songs

A traditional affair, "Christmas in the Union," will be an all-college holiday party sponsored by the Union Board, December 9 from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

Organ music, featuring Christmas songs, will be played during the afternoon by Monte Wilson. Wilson and Kamola halls will provide the organ. The three top ranking choral groups will sing during the afternoon's activities.

REW Speakers Announced Here

The theme of this year's REW, Feb. 3-7, will be titled "The 4th R." This was the unanimous decision of the program committee after many hours of consideration. The purpose which will be followed in regard to the theme is the educational approach which will give the student a look at other approaches than that of Christianity; a week that will stimulate thinking, not give the answers.

The speakers to be represented will be two protestants, a Jewish, Catholic, layman—comparative religions, and either a philosopher or missionary. The committees are now beginning to function, and will be in action from now on in preparation for this big week.

Faculty, Wife Passes

As a means to promote student-faculty relations the SGA council asked the Athletic Committee to issue family passes for this season's games to the faculty and administrators of the college. The Athletic Committee accepted the request and the passes can be obtained at the Visual Aids Office, explained SGA President, Jack Lybyer.

Lybyer also explained that married students can obtain a Student Spouse Pass for basketball season by making application for the pass at the Visual Aids office.

Personnel Office Gets Federal Job Directory

"Federal Careers, a Directory for College Students," a publication describing over eighty different types of positions in government service for which college students might qualify, has just been published by the U.S. Civil Service Commission. It emphasizes career opportunities and not just jobs.

Thirty-nine Federal agencies assisted the Civil Service Commission in the development of the publication. The pamphlet gives complete information concerning the Federal Government as an employer. The directory will help the college placement officer and faculty members in their vocational guidance and will also be of help to the student.

This publication has been sent to CWCE's Student Personnel Office for all college students to read and learn more about career opportunities in the Federal Civil Service.

The Evergreen Conference is going to see plenty of A-1 action this year, if paperwork can be trusted to give any indication of things to come. Looking over starting lineups and returning lettermen from the teams in the conference gives a mighty fine impression of powerful teams all the way through the league.

Pacific Lutheran College, Whitworth, and Central look to be the big guns in this year's EG action. PLC has already proved their worth by dumping our Wildcats last Friday in an easily won contest for the Gladiators. Whitworth got by Washington State with a one-point victory Saturday evening, and Central came back strong to show potential in downing CPS Saturday night.

Pacific Lutheran looked might good against the Cats last Friday. Led by sophomores Chuck Curtis and Roger Iverson, and senior Jack Sinderson, the Lutes possessed height on the inside and speed on the outside. Their play was terrific all the way, with tremendous strength on defensive work, rebounding, and scoring alike.

Whitworth is headed by big Marv Adams again this year and things look good for the Pirates. Phil Jordon, 6'10", will be back, and bolstered by a large crop of returnees, the Pirates should be fighting it out all the way for a top berth. Their early season win over WSC shows that they have the potential.

Central took it on the chin pretty hard from PLC in their opener but things look better for the future. With fellows like Bill Coordes, Tom Oxwang, Bill Kiehn, and the rest of the Wildcat roster around, nobody can ignore the Cats' chances. With a few more games under their belt, the Central men are going to do all right for themselves.

Eastern has three regulars back from last season's squad, and although the Savages aren't bragging themselves up much at present, they should be fielding another fairly strong team. A large turnout of good sophomores and freshmen is pointing to a strong future for the Cheney lads, too.

CPS ended up tied for the bottom last year but have a good chance to come up this season. Bob Bafus led the way for the Loggers against Buchan's Bakers Friday night and with several returning lettermen and some transfer strength added the Tacoma boys should show more strength than last year. Western can't do anything but come up either; the Vikings were on the other half of last year's tie for last place but they, like CPS, have some transfer strength and returning players to help them along this year.

UBC could surprise the conference this year but will have to depend a large part on pure desire to do it. The Thunderbirds were badly hurt when John McLeod left via the graduation route, and those 20-some points the big boy used to contribute during each game are going to be missed considerably by the Birds. Three starters from last year will be back to give the Canadians a nucleus to work with, however, and spirit often runs high up there. They ousted our championship hopes with their spirited play last year.

As far as saying who will end up on top, I sort of feel that the league will come out in the same order as listed above, with the final standings looking like this:

Pacific Lutheran College
Whitworth
Central Washington
Eastern Washington
College of Puget Sound
Western Washington
University of British Columbia

By the way, have you heard the latest from the Eastern sports page? I consider this a literary gem, and I quote:

"Let's not have the idea floating around that the Savages were sorely disappointed in losing to the Central team.

Eastern has no 'mud flats' to wallow around in and so cannot perfect mud fighting as they did their offense and defense teams this year.

"It also takes precision timing and sure footing to make the split T formation a real success but it can't be applied when you have a situation such as that of lards wallowing in mud."

My suggestion to you, Monte: Get some trimmer players. Our split T worked like a charm.

'Big Bill' Coordes Gives Experience To '56-'57 Squad

Basketball is in the spotlight now and the Wildcats' Bill Coordes is this week's Sportrait selection. Bill is 6' 5" and is a very experienced player. Last year was Bill's first year of college basketball but he was a varsity starter and was selected on the Evergreen All-Conference second team.

Bill's basketball career was launched in high school at Toppenish where he lettered two years and was selected for the All-Valley team there during his last year. Bill played Air Force service ball for four years and was a member of the March Air Force Base team that reached the Air Force finals at Omaha in 1952.

ATTENTION GOLFERS!

Athletic Director Leo Nicholson announced this week that there were prospects of forming a golf team at Central. This great individual sport, which plays a prominent part in the athletic program of many Evergreen Conference colleges, has long been neglected here at Central.

Nicholson requested that any golfers interested in participating on a team sign up in his office. Practice by the team would be conducted at the Ellensburg Golf and Country Club. A meeting of golf team candidates will be held in the near future, according to Nicholson.

Playing his usual center position, Bill was high-point man of the CPS game last Saturday, scoring 17 points. That fine showing besides his height and experience should please Coach Leo Nicholson very much again this season.

About this year's squad Bill said, "A lot of the new players should help out quite a bit." Coordes should also help the Wildcat cause quite a bit this basketball season, himself. His backboard strength and scoring ability are among the best in the conference.

Bill, 24, is married and the proud father of a four-year-old boy, Bobby. He is presently majoring in education, with a P.E. major and a science minor.

MEET THE 1956-57 WILDCAT HOOP SQUAD: First row: Wally Brudvik, Fred Hauft, Glenn Wood, Stu Hanson, Jim Hanson, Keith Peterson, Ed Aho, and Dave Boulet. Second row: Keith Tonkin, Bill Kiehn, Bill Coordes, Darrel Deeg, Joe Kominski, Bill Biehloh, and Mac McAllister. The Cats already have a 2-1 record in practice tilts. They have downed CPS and SPC so far and have dropped a contest to PLC in games to date.

WRA Girls Host Volleyball Meet

Girl's volleyball hit a peak last Saturday on the Central campus when the first annual College Women's Volleyball Sports Day was held in the Men's Gym.

Teams from 11 colleges east of the Cascade mountains were to be entered in the tournament but adverse road conditions prevented many teams from making the long trip to Ellensburg. Girls from Whitman and Washington State were the only team members able to reach Central for the tournament.

CWCE Takes Top Spot

Central I played five games in the tourney and swept all of them to take the championship. The final contest was played against Whitman and was won after playing four minutes of overtime with the score tied at 13-all. Whitman placed second with their one loss, and Central II took third place. Captains of Team I were Pat Lacey and Verna Scroup. Heading Team II were Nancy Kirk and Margie Benton.

A luncheon and coffee hour were enjoyed by the visitors while on the campus as an added part of the program.

General chairman of the function was Pat Callahan, the advisor was Mrs. McCabe, and the coach was Miss Vera Badoreck. Pat Baker headed the luncheon committee with Carol Horn, Mary Hutchinson, Beverly Farmer, Carol Daly, and Darlene Brown on the committee. Publicity chairman was Muriel Rademiller; serving as her committeemen were Sharon Hodges and Gay Bottenberg. On the officiating committee were Dora Brown, Grace Keesling, Mary Hutchinson, and Barbara Brewer, with Carol Garinger as chairman. Heading the coffee hour committee was Beverly London. Jackie Mantoi, Delores Olsen, Carol Ozanich, and Jan Kraemer were her aids.

Hockey Team Travels

In other WRA news, Central's girls hockey team tied two games and won a third in the Girl's Hockey Tournament held at WSC, Nov. 9-11. The CWCE girls played to a 1-1 tie with the University of Oregon in the opening round; downed WSC in the second day's action, 3-2, and ended up with a tie in the final with Western, 1-1.

Captaining the hockey team were Darlene Brown and Pat Callahan. Miss Vera Badoreck served as the team's coach.

Kamola Takes Title

On the local scene, Kamola III walked off with the intra-dorm volleyball tournament. In the final playoffs, Kamola III downed Off Campus, 22-21, for the title. Both teams had one loss on their record, but the Kamola III win moved the girl from the big dorm into the top spot.

Members of the winning team included Nancy Borum, Nancy Kirk, Jackie Mantie, Stella Baan, Marilyn Legge, Carol Woody, Rosie Davis, and captain Pat Lacey.

Wildcats Treat Crowd To Victory With First At-Home Appearance

Central Washington College's Wildcat hoop squad made its home debut in crowning fashion here Tuesday night, as they downed the visiting Seattle Pacific Falcons 78-70, in a non-conference tilt. The victory gave the Cats their second consecutive victory in non-league action and it also gave head coach Leo Nicholson his 501st win in his coaching career.

Nicholson picked up his 500th win last Saturday against CPS as opposed to only 190 losses. The head mentor, who has been coaching the hoop sport for 28 years at Central, has about a 72 percent win average.

"Nick's" Wildcats started off strong against SPC Tuesday night, as they took a lead in the first minute of play and were never headed from that point on. With Bill Kiehn and Stu Hanson leading the scoring punch for the Cats through the first half, the Central squad enjoyed a 10 point lead through the period and had a 46-34 halftime spread over the Falcons, who could do little against the Wildcat defense.

SPC came back with a defense of their own in the second period, however, and the CWC team saw their lead melt away, until with eight minutes remaining to play, the SPC men edged up to within six points of the Cats. Employing a tight man-to-man press, the Falcons hung on through the rest of the period, but could not move any closer to the Cats.

The Wildcats broke loose time and time again for open shots at the bucket, as they played ball control until someone cleared for a shot. Two quick buckets by Bill Coordes in the final minutes put the contest away for the Cats.

Joe Kominski was outstanding on the boards for Central, while Stu Hanson did his usual fine job on defense. Hanson held SPC's ace guard, Loren Anderson, to only two field goals in the contest.

Cats Split Games At Tourney Meet

Central Washington's basketball Wildcats stepped into hoop action last weekend in Tacoma's annual Athletic Tournament and came home with a split series.

The Cats tangled with Pacific Lutheran College Friday night and got burned, 80-47. The Lutes, last year's Evergreen Conference champions grabbed an early lead and won it going away.

However, the tide turned Saturday night as the Sweezy cagers handed the College of Puget Sound Loggers a 67-53 thrashing. The Wildcats dominated everything from the opening tip-off and salted the game away early in the fourth quarter. Bill Coordes, Central's 6-5 letterman pivot man, took scoring honors with 17 points. Kieth Tonkin, talented Wildcat freshman forward, was runner-up with 15.

In Friday night's game with PLC the Cats were "off" in their shooting, hitting only 25 per cent. Coach Leo Nicholson had this to say about the loss: "We played terrible ball. We were jittery and just had a bad night. PLC was hotter than a firecracker. They played very well together and are much improved over last year."

Off-Campus Flagball Team Claims MIA Championship

Off-Campus IV stood at the top of the heap when MIA action came to a conclusion November 15. The Off-Campus men, under the team name of "Maud's boys," downed Wilson III for the title with a 30-14 victory. Wilson had just previously won their way back into contention by taking a protest game from Off-Campus V, 24-18, on Wednesday, to reverse an earlier decision.

Off Campus set up their scoring machine early in the first half beginning with a long pass from Steve Doutrich to Phil Gant for the first tally. A short while later Doutrich again hurled the pigskin, this time to Del Teade for the second score. Dick Wilson engineered the next two TD's, the first by a pass down the middle to Teade and the second by a quick plungs also through the center of the line making the halftime score 24-0.

Wilson Comes Back

The second half saw Wilson Hall regain its balance and score its first touchdown with a long pass from Don Mitchell to the waiting arms of Oscar Lindahl who carried the ball into the end zone. Wilson again tallied on Hugh Hinson's run through the middle a bit later to make the score 24-12.

On the following kick-off the Wilsonites caught Dick Wilson in the end zone for two points and to put them in reach of victory. However, shortly after Wilson Hall gained control of the ball and started a determined march goalward, Phil Gant, the defensive line backer for "Maud's Boys," intercepted a Wilson pass and ran thirty yards for the touchdown to break up the Wilsonites' attempt and make the final score 30-14.

Off Campus IV ended their season with a perfect nine win, no loss record. Steve Doutrich, the team captain, attributed their success to a sturdy lot of players and an undivided spirit for the team. "I don't think anyone on the squad tried to be a star, but rather it was good team spirit all the way," said Doutrich.

Cats' Chances For Top Year Looking Good

"We're not ready for our first games, but the squad is improving and I expect to have as good a club, or better, than we had last year." Those were the words of head basketball coach Leo Nicholson as he appraised the 1956-57 edition of Central Washington's cage squad.

The Wildcats have two big requirements necessary to win basketball games—speed and height. Two lettermen, Bill Coordes, center, and Eddie Aho, guard, form the nucleus of the Cats' quintet. Coordes is 6-5, Aho stands 5-10.

Kieth Tonkin, 6-1, and Don Kramer, 6-5 are forwards, and Bill Kiehn, 6-2, is Aho's running mate at guard. Those were the starters in last week's Tacoma Invitational Athletic Tournament and those five will see plenty of action this season. However, Nicholson added that "Nothing was definite" about his first five

This year's crop of freshmen is "talented" according to Nicholson and Central fans will get the chance to see lots of new talent in the opening games of the 1956-57 season.

BOUNCING THE BALL

Bob Bussoli and Hal Heath

It's good-bye to pigskin and pads and hello to basketball as cagers throughout the nation begin snapping the twines and pounding the maples.

Only New Year's Bowl games remain for lucky college football teams and then — to put it bluntly — football has had it. Here's how the Bowl situation shapes up:

ROSE BOWL — Iowa (8-2) vs. Oregon State (7-2-1). Iowa's air attack over OSC's ground game by a touchdown.

SUGAR BOWL — Baylor (8-2) vs. Tennessee (10-0). We'll ride with the winner — Tennessee by thirteen points.

COTTON BOWL — Syracuse (7-1) vs. Texas Christian (7-3). Watch Jim Brown of Syracuse but look for a TCU upset. Texas Christian by a "horned frog's eye-lash."

GATOR BOWL — Pittsburgh (8-2-1) vs. Georgia Tech (9-1). A "toughie" but we'll give the nod to the "Ramblin' Wrecks" by two tallies.

ORANGE BOWL — Colorado (7-2-1) vs. either Clemson (7-2-1), Duke (5-4-1), or South Carolina (7-3). Colorado over any one of 'em by two touchdowns.

"I told you so's" will be accepted January 2.

So much for football. In basketball, the San Francisco Dons made it 57 in a row Saturday night as they came from behind to take California, 70-56. The win established a new national inter-collegiate record.

The Dons leaned on Mike Farmer, Gene Brown and Mike Presseau, all veterans of last years championship squad. 'Frisco, of course, is without All-American Bill Russell which would stagger any team but, like Mr. Presley, they just keep on rollin'.

The Cougars from Brigham Young University out-hustled the favored Washington Huskies last weekend at Provo, Utah to win 70-66. Husky star Bruno Boin hooked in 32 points and dominated both boards but it wasn't enough as the Huskies suffered their first setback.

Seattle University was more fortunate. The Chiefs eased to a 66-59 triumph over Utah State's Aggies. The Chieftains' much publicized Elgin Baylor lived up to notices as he dumped in 40 points and controlled both boards.

The big news in basketball is the excellent showing of the United States Olympic team in Melbourne, Australia. Paced by giant All-American Bill Russell, the Yanks dominated the courts against the smaller players from other countries. Russell, at 6-10, is a terrific rebounder and scoring threat. He is easily the outstanding basketballer in the '56 edition of the Games.

Speaking of big boys, you fans will have a chance to see Wilt "the Stilt" Chamberlain when he leads the Kansas Jayhawkers into Seattle to battle the Washington Huskies next weekend. "The Stilt," who stands seven feet plus, is billed as the finest prospect over to pull on a pair of sneakers.

He'll have plenty of competition from Washington's All-American candidate, Bruno Boin. Boin, a "midget" at 6-10, specializes in those forty-foot hook shots which former Husky Bob Houbregs made so famous.

All in all, it shapes up as quite a thriller and promises to be well worth a drive over. Just a warning though, to those who plan to attend. Grab a seat in the third tier . . .

That way you can look down on the "Stilt."

On the boxing scene, veteran Archie Moore was outclassed by his younger opponent Floyd Patterson in their 15 round nationally televised heavyweight championship bout at Chicago Coliseum. The 21-year old Patterson was just too much for the old man of boxing, Archie Moore. Moore is 39, going on 43 years of age. It was youth against age.

A left uppercut in 2:27 of the fifth round spelled a K.O. for Patterson and gave him the distinction of being the youngest boxer to win the world championship in boxing history. Joe Louis previously held the record; he was 23 when he became champion.

Joe Kominski, end, and Bud Snaza, back, were the two chosen for the ideal team. Kominski, a 21 year old junior, stands 6-5 and tips the scales at 215 pounds. He has been outstanding both offensively and defensively for the Wildcats this season. Snaza, a junior also at 24, who stands 5-11 and weighs in at 170 was the Conference's second ranked back in total offense. Tackle Yarl Jensen and center Dale Lanegan were placed on the second team. End Jim Baggett, guard John Liboky and back Jim Thrasher received honorable mention.

MIA Moves Into Gear; Daniels Wins Ping Pong

Action started to move this week in the multi-feature MIA program now in progress by the SGA. Ping pong reached the end of its tournament, while pool, chess, pinochle, and volleyball all reached full swing with their activities.

Taking top spot in the ping pong tournament was William Daniels, who won out over Don Osborn in the final rounds to claim the championship. Ten men entered the pool tourney early in the week, eight teams began pinochle competition, and eight chess players all started action to fill out the other phases of the program.

Volleyball drew the largest response from the Central men students, as five living groups overwhelmingly entered large numbers of men in the tourney. Several groups entered more than one team, and approximately 180 men are now signed up in the program. Living groups represented include North, Off-Campus, Wilson, Verville, Carmody, and Munro.
